

DEEPEST SNOW IN MANY YEARS

Pedestrians Forced to Make Paths With Brooms And Shovels Or Wade Almost Knee Deep.

The deepest snow in many years is covering the ground in Central Kentucky. The weather is extremely cold, and forecasters give no hope of immediate relief. Early Thursday morning, snow began falling and did not cease until late Friday morning. It was necessary to make paths with brooms and shovels before the people could make their way from their residences to the street and to their places of business. In many places, the snow was drifted to a depth of many feet, and early pedestrians were forced to wade almost knee-deep. Mayor J. A. Hughes had a sledge put to dragging the streets during the morning, and by noon, practically all inconvenience was overcome. Country people were almost cut off from the city.

The citizens should make it a point to follow the example of the merchants and have the snow cleaned away from in front of their residences as soon as possible, in order to prevent its packing and becoming hardened, which would necessarily make the clearing away a more difficult task.

Dispatches state that while in Chicago the temperature rose to 8 degrees above zero and remained at 6 above at 9 p. m. elsewhere in the Middle-west and Northwest the mercury-level stood from zero to 38 below. The coldest points were in the Canadian northwest. Bismark, N. D. wrested the low mark from Medicine Hat, with 32 below, two degrees colder than its rival. At Duluth it was 26 below; at Omaha, 14; at St. Louis, zero; at Marquette, Mich., 16 below; at Detroit, 6 above; at Kansas City, 6 below; Denver, 4 above and at Salt Lake City, Utah, the temperature was just at freezing.

DEATH OF CHILD

The four-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Prewitt died early Monday morning at the home of his parents on the Donaldson pike, about 11 miles from Winchester after two days illness of membranous croup. The remains were interred in the Turley graveyard Tuesday.

HOME SAVING AND BUILDING ASSOCIATION

Will Open New Class to Begin Business on The First Saturday in March, 1912.

At a meeting of the directors of the Home Building and Saving Association Friday morning, it was unanimously decided to open subscriptions to stock in a new class, to begin business on the first Saturday in March, 1912. The new class will be known as "Class C." A great many people have indicated their desire to take stock in the new class, and it is thought the class will be a large one. Printed blanks have been prepared for the purpose, and solicitors will call on those desiring stock right away. Besides those appointed to solicit stock, anyone may subscribe by giving their name and the number of shares subscribed to any member of the Board of Directors, or to Mr. S. W. Powell, Secretary of the Association. You can't do a wiser thing than to subscribe for some of this stock, because it is the true system of saving, and you will have money laid up to build you a home or for a rainy day before you know it. The dues will, of course, be the same as in the old classes.

Raymond Duncan left Friday for Sheffield, Ala., to resume work after a brief visit to Winchester.

FURNISHED TRANSPORTATION

Thomas Kelly, Confederate soldier, on his way to the home of relatives at Winchester, was furnished transportation to this city, Friday, by the Portsmouth authorities.—Maysville Independent.

CASE DISMISSED

Dr. J. H. Tyler, colored, of this city, was tried at Lexington Monday on a charge of converting to his own use the property of another, Mary Fields, a negro woman of this city, charged with misappropriating $150. After hearing her testimony, Dr. Tyler was dismissed on motion of the Commonwealth. Hon. J. M. Stevenson defended Tyler and C. S. Moffett assisted in the prosecution.

ESCAPE FROM REFORM SCHOOL

Twelve White Boys Wander About Aimlessly in The Snow And Cannot Be Apprehended.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 11.—Somewhere in Fayette and adjoining counties, twelve white boys from the Greendale Reform School are wandering around, perhaps, aimlessly, in the blinding snow storm, trying to dodge officers, following their escape in a body from the Reform School Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Two of those who escaped were found and returned to Greendale, but at an early hour Friday morning the other thirteen were still at large, and there was every indication that they had so scattered that they may not all be found for some time to come.

When the fifteen boys who escaped broke loose the bars before the window in a bathroom in the basement of the boys' dormitory, just after having finished their supper Thursday night, they immediately scattered, taking every direction of the compass as a means of escape. It was perhaps the biggest single delivery ever made from that institution.

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

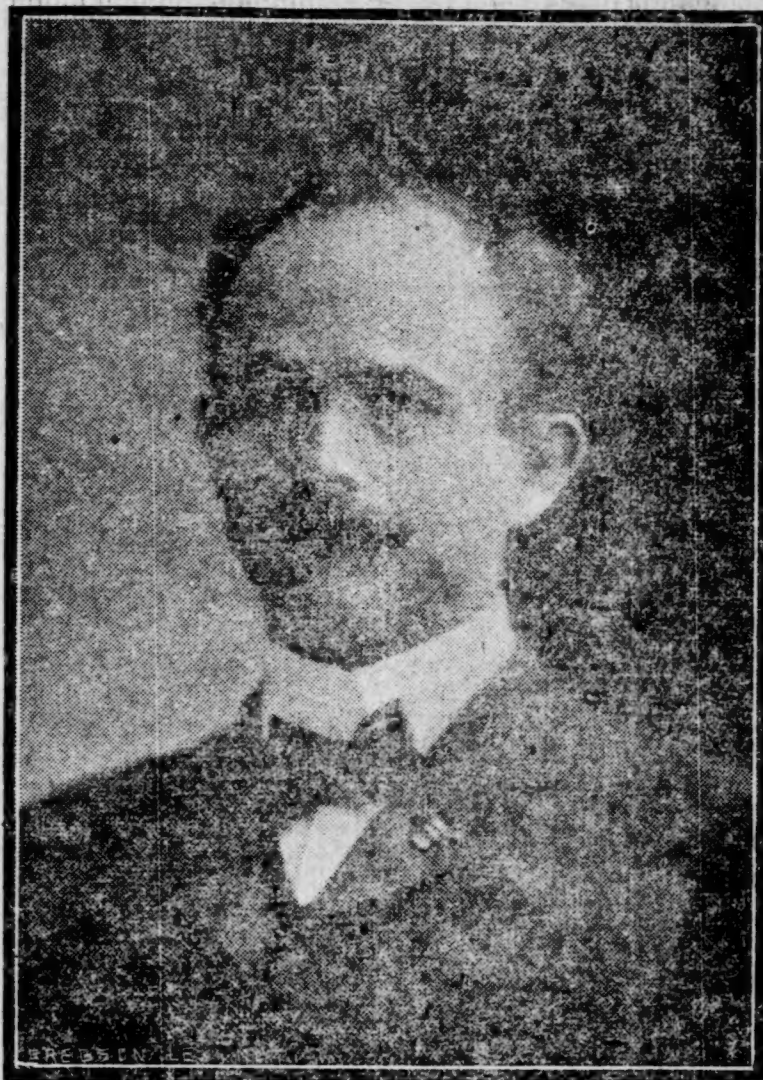

For Work By a Senate of Kentucky On Thursday.—Practically Every Important Measure Introduced.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 12.—All records for work by a Senate of Kentucky were broken Thursday when the Senate began at 10:05 a. m. and adjourned at 4:05 p. m. More bills were introduced than during the first month of last session. Practically every important measure of the session was introduced.

Because Senator Thomas' name was so far down on the list he gave to Senator Graham the County Unit Bill, which will be pushed by the administration. The bill will be known as Senate Bill No. 18. The provisions of this bill conform to the county unit plank in the Democratic platform.

President McDermott showed that he will tolerate no foolishness, for when he ordered Sergeant-at-Arms Young to go out and arrest Senators enough to constitute a quorum. He then had the doors locked and the newspaper reporters, in order to get out their copy to the telegraph office, had to put it through the opening under the door.

Wide Scope of Legislation
Nearly every subject of importance requiring legislation was touched on. When the session adjourned there were many tired and worn-out Senators, yet a motion to adjourn over to Monday was defeated. The prediction of President McDermott that the session may be completed in forty days may be fulfilled.

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY

Who Will Speak at the Winchester Opera House on Saturday Evening, Under the Auspices of Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey will deliver a lecture at the Opera House, in this city, on Saturday night, under the auspices of K. W. College.

Judge Lindsey's available lecture time is entirely sold for the coming winter. With no more dates available, the local committee is to be congratulated for getting in on the ground floor.

Judge Lindsey's marvelous fight against great political powers in Colorado, the far reaching results of his work among and for delinquent youth, together with the graphic description which he has given in continued story in Everybody's Magazine has brought him into the public eye as few other men have been. His lecture here will be entitled, "The Misfortunes of Mikey"—a lecture which is as entertaining as the title would indicate. In addition to entertaining his patrons, the committee which brings Judge Lindsey to a community, does the community even a higher service than to entertain. Judge Lindsey has a message and that message has to do with the most important individual in all the world—a boy.

He tells of the incident of his judicial career that turned his attention to the boy. Six or seven years ago the district attorney had said one morning: "We have some burglars to try this morning, Judge." And looking around he saw three little boys sitting in the jury box. They were the "burglars" and that single incident set Judge Lindsey to thinking, the result being the present juvenile system in the State of Colorado that is destined to become national.

In his lectures he touches many phases of the problems of the day relating to the youth. He believes that parents should be held responsible for the welfare of their children. He also says that business men should learn the facts of the cause of crime and that no business will ever succeed when it puts money above heart and conscience. Children are the victims of industrialism in thousands of instances.

MRS. EUGENIA POTTS IS BADLY INJURED

Well Known Lexington Literary Woman Receives Painful Injury to Her Hip.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 12.—When leaving a meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the Courthouse Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Mrs. Eugenia D. Potts, well known Lexington literary woman, slipped on the snow-covered stone steps of the Courthouse, and, in falling, received a painful injury to her left hip, which may develop to be a fracture of the hip bone.

Mrs. Potts left the building unaccompanied and was preparing to leave the ground floor of the Courthouse by the Main street entrance. She was seen to fall by several men on the lower floor of the Courthouse, who went to her assistance, and aided her to a carriage, which took her to her home, 505 South Mill street.

Upon a physician's examination of her injury, it being found that she was more dangerously hurt than was at first believed, Mrs. Potts was taken from her home to St. Joseph's Hos-

TEXAS SCARED AT MENINGITIS

Public Gatherings Given Up in North and East Part of the State and Even Saloon Keepers Say Their Trade Suffers.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 12.—The menace of meningitis in Dallas and other cities in North and East Texas has instilled such fear among all classes of population that public gatherings have been practically abandoned. Even church meetings have been given up. Society gatherings are rare, saloon keepers say that fear of the meningitis epidemic has caused a serious reduction in their trade while women's and men's club meetings scheduled for the next ten days have been abandoned.

QUARANTINE AGAINST WORLD

BAD MAN TAKEN TO OWINGSVILLE.

Jas. Fokett was arrested here Wednesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs, Ballard and Hart. He was wanted at Owingsville on two charges, concealed weapons and assault with deadly weapon. He was taken to that place Thursday morning by Officer Ballard and as a letter warned the officers that he was a bad man, and would take long chances to escape, he was handcuffed.

NEGRO NEARLY FROZEN

Jeff Taylor, a negro man, was found almost frozen by persons living in the Goodes precinct Monday. The man failed to recover consciousness, and the authorities were notified. Officers Hart and Ballard went after him and lodged him in jail. He was still unconscious, but recovered somewhat later.

COMPLICATIONS HAVE ARISEN

Because of Woman's Presence On Jury, And Case May Go to The Supreme Court.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 12.—Because the law holds that a jury must be held together in a murder case Mrs. Retta Doddridge, a lone woman on the Bianchi murder jury, must sleep with the eleven men who are her colleagues. The trial judge held that her bed could be held separate from the others by a screen and that she could have the attendance of a woman bailiff.

The defense raised a point, insisting that even the compromise screen will not be literally in compliance with the law, insisting that separate retirement of a woman bailiff at any time, for any purpose, violates the provisions. If Bianchi is convicted the case will go to the Supreme Court on the question raised by the woman's presence on the jury.

DR. J. G. HIDDEN PRINCETOWN HEAD

UNDERTAKERS BAR AUTOS

Courts Must Decide Whether a Member Who Uses One of Them Can Retain His Membership.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 12.—The courts must decide whether an undertaker who uses one of them can retain the standing with his brother undertakers he enjoyed when the "honk-honk" vehicles were luxuries rather than necessities.

L. D. Bax, member of the Falls City Funeral Directors' Association, Wednesday obtained a temporary injunction directing that the association refrain from dropping him from membership.

This act of the association is based on a resolution passed several years ago and providing that no member of the organization should use an automobile in his business without first gaining the consent of the other members.

Mr. Bax, thrice refused such permission, bought a motor undertaker's wagon anyway, and now is seeking to compel the association, which sought by mutual agreement to keep down the use of expensive equipment, to endorse his departure from the rules.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

"Bob" Lilly, of Lexington, was fined $32.50 before Judge Evans Tuesday for exceeding the speed limit.

ENDORSEMENT OF LOCAL BAR

Is Given to Policies Advocated by Judge Ben Lindsey, Who Will Lecture Here Saturday Night.

The lecture of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, to be delivered at the Opera House Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Kentucky Wesleyan College, promises to be the greatest treat that our people have had for some time.

Judge Lindsey is a most pleasing speaker, and his address on that occasion should be heard by every man, woman and child in this city.

The attorneys of this city held a meeting at the Court House last Wednesday with Judge J. M. Benton as chairman, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Judge Ben B. Lindsey is today perhaps the foremost reformer in the United States. He has a national reputation gained by his ability, perseverance and courage in the great fight for civil righteousness, which was begun by him in Denver, Col., but whose influence has spread over the entire country. His coming to our city is an event of no mean importance, and the Kentucky Wesleyan authorities are entitled to our thanks, as well as congratulations for giving our people the opportunity of knowing and hearing this truly great man."

This endorsement of the local bar means much and everyone should make an effort to hear this lecture Saturday night.

ADmits THAT HE RECOMMENDED KNOX

Pressed by Steel Probers Ironmaster
Says He Urged Philander on Mc-Kinley.—No Tariff is Needed.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Andrew Carnegie, pressed hard Thursday by members of the House Committee of Inquiry into the United States Steel Corporation, admitted that he recommended the appointment of Philander
C. Knox, the present Secretary of State, as Attorney-General in President McKinley's Cabinet in 1901, Mr. Knox having been one of the chief counselors of the Carnegie Steel Company since 1890, when the Sherman anti-trust law was passed.

Didn't Know Pools Illegal

Mr. Carnegie repeatedly had declared before the committee that he never knew that the participation of his company in the steel plate pool and other like pools was unlawful,
and Representative McGillicuddy, of Maine, sought to show that he had recommended to President McKinley the appointment of Knox, after the latter, as counsel for his company, had left him in ignorance of the government statutes so many years.

Says No Tariff Needed

Mr. Carnegie also told the committee that he believed no protective tariff was necessary on steel rails or steel products. He asserted that Congress need have no fear that foreign rails would flood the United States if the tariff was removed.

The ironmaster will be recalled Friday, though he urged that he be permitted to conclude his testimony
Thursday.

RANDOM SHOTS

(By Capt. S. M. Boone)

Judge Morrow is a fine old gentleman, and upon one occasion while canvassing in the mountains of Kentucky late one Saturday evening, he came upon a band of honest mountaineers engaged in a shooting match. John Calhoun was the annunciator whose duty it was to approach the target after each man had fired and to announce the result of the shot, which he did in most cases in the following manner: "Just a little to the right"; "Right square
under the bull's eye"; An eye lash clinker and pigeon heel winker";
"Center by God"; "Just above the bull's eye, and a little to the right, a mighty good shot for beef." Here the Judge called on a by-stander for his rifle remarking, "Boys, I'll show you how to shoot." He took long and deliberate aim and the sharp crack of the rifle rang out clear and loud. Calhoun with great gravity and dignity approached the target,
and, after a most critical examination of the board exclaimed in a voice that could have been easily heard five miles: "Tan bark away off to the left." Morrow had missed the board and sculpted as John said
a small oak which stood some dis-

This incident recalls another and in which both Judge and good honest John Calhoun are the leading characters. John, in order to enlarge his bank roll quite a number of years ago, gave a barbecue, and posted (then) Col. Morrow, as the orator of the day. Morrow was a fine
speaker and a cultured gentleman, being a graduate of Old Center. Before the speaking began John took the Colonel aside and advised him that there were tables designated as the 25 and 35 cent table, and that he (John) was very anxious the Colonel should reach the latter table before the crowd made the grand rush which always occurs at a barbecue.

Morrow was in fine fettle that day,
and while soaring high above the miasmas of this sin-cursed world—plucking stars here and there and breathing out the most beautiful sentences of high class rhetoric—John squared himself directly in front of the speaker (who was holding the audience spell bound) and in a voice that was louder than thunder said:
"Col. Morrow, I do not wish to con-sturb you, but the 35 cent table
are now ready." Of course the Colonel descended from his high altitude and leisurely wended his way to the 35 cent table.

Who can or would forget if he could, these by gone days "when the heart was young and the years were few?" I do not know whether good honest John still lives or not—perhaps he has crossed the bar—
has, and I had power, at the final consummation of all things, I would say—"John, come up higher." At last accounts the Judge was still alive and well, and although the frosts of 75 winters rest upon his brow, his mind is as clear as a sunbeam, and his laugh like the ripple of pure water over pearls beneath.

A man who thinks
That he's high-jinks
Has corns on his toes
And a wart on his nose.

"The Random Shooter" in shooting around as might have been expected, has finally shot himself, not with suicidal intent, however, as he prefers larger game.

Good women, God bless them; we have them here below by the score.
But if you'll look round there's more.
Shall I say they are good? These last—God forbid. For if I did I should lie.

Who was the biggest far that ever lived here upon the face of this earth? I shall not answer the question now, but will relate an incident that may throw a little light on the subject. Some years ago there lived in this city a man who for kindness of heart was without a peer. He was out in his backyard one morning and to his horror discovered his next door neighbor's house on fire. He did not holler for the best of reasons, but ran in and said: "Wife run out in the street and squall fire long and loud—as you well know the people won't believe me."

The weather still continues to continue, and if it does not turn warmer by and by, the chances are that it will remain moderately cool until it gets warmer. I submit that the above prognostication is absolutely correct, my good friend Asa Martin to the contrary notwithstanding.

Now and then there comes to me
gems of poetic beauty, and just now
this occurs:

"Old Uncle Simon he Climbed up a tree,
To see what he could see
When presentlee,
His Uncle Jim
Climbed up by the side or him—
And squatted down by he.

The man that hath not music in his soul is a stranger to all sweet sounds, except the footing of the dinner horn.

Long may she tot
To call the galoot.

This fearful wintry weather
Makes birds of a feather
Kinder flock together,
And the man that says, its not Shoot him on the spot.

When the thermometer is registering 6 degrees above, let us all sing in glad acclaim:

"Oh believers summer time's done
gone
If you shiver
Hunt up kiver
And pile de oak logs on."

George Washington was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen. Let us always revere and love his memory.
Let it also be remembered that George raised up the hatchet
None being present to snare it
And with fire in his eye
Said—"Daddy I can't lie."

Any boy who has a hat-ye
Should remember and never forget
This truly noble youth Who always spoke the truth. He was called the father of his country.
Always keep this in mind
And you'll never catch it behind—
Never tell a lie.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You To Prove At Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall
"93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness.
It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet requisite, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain
the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair,
and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c., and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Phillips
Drug Store, 56 S. Main street.

FOLKS PAST FIFTY MUST USE CASCARETS

What Glasses Are To Weak Eyes.
Cascarets Are To Weak Bowels.
A 10-Cent Box Will Truly Amaze
You

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets.
One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug

SOCIETYHitchcock-Dietrich

The marriage of Miss Ruth Dorland Dietrich to Mr. Glenn Hitchcock was solemnized quietly in Lexington on Thursday afternoon, January 11. The arrangements had been planned for a home wedding next week, and the news that the ceremony had been performed at an earlier date came as a surprise to their many friends.

The bride is a daughter of Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Dietrich, and is a lovely and charming young lady. Being a member of a distinguished family, she possesses all those graces of mind and person which only a cultured home atmosphere can impart. Her disposition is singularly sweet, and her gentle, gracious manner has endeared her to a large number of loving friends.

Mr. Hitchcock is engaged in the clothing business in Nashville. As an honorable and upright business man, he is known among the dealers and patrons of that city, and in social circles he is always warmly welcomed for his genial personality.

Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock will make their home in Nashville.

WANTED PERMIT TO KILL HIS FAMILY

John McCord is Killed in Louisville, After Having Secured a Job He Sought So Earnestly.

Louisville, Jan. 12.—Death he so eagerly sought a few weeks ago while out of work, came unexpectedly to John McCord Wednesday, when he was killed at one of the barns of the Louisville Railway Company, where he had secured employment only a few days ago.

A few weeks ago McCord walked into the office of Prosecuting Attorney Harry Robinson of the Police Court, and started that official by asking to be given a permit to kill his wife and three children and end his own life. He said he had been without work for a number of months and that his family were in destitute circumstances.

Having tried in vain to secure work, McCord said he had concluded to kill his family and then end his own life, but he did not wish to break any law in so doing and desired to know if he could not secure a permit that would legalize the act. McCord was placed in custody, but was later released after authorities had investigated conditions at the man's home and supplied the immediate wants of his family.

A few days ago McCord secured employment washing cars in one of the barns of the Louisville Street Railway Company. Wednesday afternoon he was struck by a car backing into the barn and knocked into a repair pit, receiving injuries that resulted in death a few minutes later.

QUININE DOESN'T CURE BAD COLDS

How to Really Break a Severe Cold And End All Grippe Misery In Just A Few Hours

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the Grippe symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance of bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

JOHNSON MAKES ACCUSATION

Against Jim Corbett And a Chicago Theatrical Man, Whom He Claims Attempted to Bribe Him.

(From Cincinnati Enquirer)

Chicago—"Jim Corbett and a Chicago theatrical man offered me $100,000 to lay down to Al Kaufman after I had defeated Jim Jeffries and demonstrated that I was the greatest fighter in the world.

"When I returned from Australia, where I won the championship of the world from Tommy Burns, Jim Corbett and the same theatrical magazine visited me and offered me a substantial prize if I would consent to fake 10 rounds with Corbett and assist in rebuilding Gentleman Jim's reputation."

These were the answers Jack Johnson made to the signed statements of Jim Corbett to the effect that Johnson was the luckiest of champions, that he was dodging fights with the best of the present-day heavyweights, that he was a man of doubtful courage and that he was hogging it by demanding $30,000 for his end of a purse for a world's championship fight.

The dusky champion not only accused Corbett of trying to get him to participate in a fake, but tore a few of the bouquets off the record of Sullivan's conqueror.

"Take a look at Corbett's record," said Johnson. "He only fought two or three square fights. His contest with Charlie Mitchell at Jacksonville was a raw fake. Mitchell laid down to him. He lost his fight with Tom Sharkey in New York on a foul to keep from being beaten in a more decisive way. And last, but not least, his fake contest with Kid McCoy put the boxing game out of commission in New York for a long time.

"And this is the man who says I have no nerve—this man whom I'll swear came to me and asked me to let him stay 10 rounds with me in order that he might look like the real 'come back'."

"When Corbett was champion he never fought a good young fellow. Yet he says I am a staller.

"I shew a witness to the offer that Corbett made to me to let him stay 10 rounds. He and the theatrical man came to see me when I was living with Toots Marshall on South Dearborn street and made me the proposition. No definite sum was stated as my part of the job, but I was given to understand that I would be paid well.

"I turned down this proposition, and then right after my fight with Jeffries, when the cry for a white champion was shouted everywhere, the same pair asked me to let Kaufman beat me and placed my pay at $100,000.

"Corbett has criticised me for holding out for $30,000 for my end of a championship fight purse. Why shouldn't I? This is the amount Tommy Burns got for fighting me. If he was worth that much as a champion I think I should be given the same sum. I never yet have tried to defend my claim to the championship by fake fights, and that is considerably more than some of my critics can say."

Jack Johnson made the following statement under oath to E. J. Bangs, a Notary Public:

"Shortly after I returned from Australia from the Burns-Johnson fight James J. Corbett and Mr. H. H. Frazee came to my house. At that time I was residing at 2220 Dearborn street. I was renting apartments from a gentleman of the name of Tuts Marshall. Corbett proposed that I should box him and fake the match. We were to box in Philadelphia if I consented to do so. I went alone in my room it was best that I should let George Little know what was doing, so I had it all prearranged so that Little would come in the meantime. I told the two—Corbett and Frazee—that there was nothing doing. Frazee & Co., which means Corbett, offered me $100,000 to lay down to Al Kaufman after the Johnson-Jeffries battle. I would have insulted Frazee that night, but being in my own home I declined to do so.

NO CHANCE

To Beat Battling Nelson, Says Former Manager Murphy.

"Tommy Ryan and Jack Johnson and the rest of them needn't worry much about Bat Nelson and the possibility of his being killed in the ring. Bat is amply able to care for himself just now and doesn't need any sympathy."

This was the statement made by Teddy Murphy, Bat's former manager, who handled Jack Redmond, of Milwaukee, against Nelson in a twenty-round scrap in New Orleans last Sunday afternoon, a scrap in which Nelson was given the decision after an interesting battle.

Murphy and his Cream City protégé got back from the South recently on their way to Milwaukee and had much to say of the former champion lightweight of the world. Even knowing Nelson as well as he does, having started out with him in 1904, when the Dane began his victorious career on the Pacific Coast, Teddy is still lost in admiration of the wonderful stamina of the former champ.

"I was inclined myself to pity him until I saw him battle in New Orleans against Redmond," Teddy told a party of friends here. "Bat quickly lost that feeling after the battle had been on for about 10 rounds.

"It looked to me in the seventh and eighth rounds like Redmond had a chance to put Nelson down for the count, but all the rest of the spectators, I was badly fooled. The Battler came back in the ninth and tenth and fought like a whirlwind, making the fight more than even and finally winning out by another spurt toward the end.

"Now, I wouldn't exactly like to say that Nelson is as good as ever he was, but this I am sure of. He is just as tough as ever, and is in no danger of having any of the present day second raters kill him in the ring.

"There is one thing that helps Nelson a whole lot in his present campaigning. He doesn't bother his head about making any weight. He sealed around 142 pounds, I should say, and, of course, is tremendously strong at that figure. He declines to make weight because he says he is doing so much traveling that he hasn't time to stop long enough to get down to a low figure. What he would do if forced to make 133 pounds I could not say. It might weaken him terribly and put him out of business. But at catch weights he certainly is a wonder right now, and none of the second raters would have a single chance with him in a battle of 20 rounds.

"Bat simply would get it on them in eight or ten rounds and then gallop home. The average fighter after hammering him for 10 rounds would say to himself 'Oh, what's the use of punching this guy?' and the Bat would breeze home a winner."
